SUMMARY

The City of Los Angeles (City) is seeking a dynamic and expert leader to become the City's first City Forest Officer (Forest Officer). Los Angeles is home to the nation's largest urban forest and largest urban park, is comprised of diverse watersheds, and is a unique global biodiversity hotspot. Despite the foundational challenge of an inequitably distributed tree canopy and more recent stressors such as drought and pests, the City is making headway to regenerate, expand, and revitalize the state of our urban forest and the Forest Officer will be critical to the City's success.

The City of Los Angeles, Board of Public Works (Board) is a five-member executive team that governs and administers the City's Department of Public Works (DPW). DPW is comprised of five bureaus - Sanitation, Street Services, Street Lighting, Engineering, and Contract Administration - and Board Offices.

The Forest Officer will oversee all policies and programs related to the City's urban forest with a focus on data-driven problem solving, transparency, accountability, sustainability, and resiliency. The Forest Officer will provide technical expertise on urban forestry related policy and programs to City staff and elected officials and also provide a unified voice for Los Angeles's urban forest, spearheading public education on trees and coalescing urban forestry efforts among all City departments to meet a shared vision for LA's trees. This position will report to the Board through its Executive Officer and advise the Mayor and City Council.

Working collaboratively and in partnership with various City departments (i.e., Bureau of Street Services, Department of Planning, Department of Recreation and Parks, and Department of Water and Power), their executive leadership, and external stakeholders (e.g., community based and non-profit organizations), the ideal candidate will have exceptional organizational, personnel, and financial management skills, excellent communication skills, familiarity with and experience forging effective relationships in or with governmental leadership, knowledge of and the ability to replicate world-class practices and technology, and the ability to bring together diverse viewpoints to work towards a common goal, operate under public scrutiny and excel in a complex, challenging, and rewarding public service environment. The Forest Officer will help position the City as a leader in urban forestry and execute the Mayor's goals to grow a more sustainable, biodiverse, robust, and equitable urban forest for all Angelenos.
